5. Admissions Principles

1.1 Equality and Inclusion

All applications will be considered equitably without regard to any inappropriate distinction e.g., Section 75 characteristics such as age, ethnic origin, nationality, disability, sexual orientation, gender, religious or political beliefs, marital status, care experience and/or socio-economic background. Decisions about eligibility for a course will be made objectively and without discrimination. Staff will not venture outside of the agreed processes for reviewing applicant suitability for a course and in the issuing of any offers.

1.2 Merit-Based Selection

All applications are assessed on merit, using the information provided in the application form and supporting documentation. The College reserves the right to review previous academic records and engagement history to assess suitability.

1.3 Evidence Submission:

Applications are considered based on the information and evidence required and submitted (e.g. photographic ID, prior qualifications, health declarations, employer forms) by the advertised deadlines. Failure to do so may result in delayed processing or withdrawal of the application

1.4 Pre-Entry Engagement:

For all full time and substantial part time FE, HE and WBL programmes, a pre-entry advice session will be offered, and for many courses, will be mandatory. Failure to attend a mandatory pre-entry advice session without reasonable notice may impact on an applicant's place in the recruitment process. The College reserves the right to reallocate priority based on a lack of communication or engagement in the College recruitment process from any applicant.

1.5 Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL):

The College recognises applications from applicants with non-accredited work and/or life experience. As such, RPL may be used to assess whether an applicant meets the entry requirements/learning outcomes of a course through prior experience or qualifications. RPL assessments are subject to the same quality assurance processes as standard assessments.

1.6 Fee and Funding Confirmation:

All courses have a fee assigned to them, and a fee assessment will determine if an applicant is entitled to fee remission or exemption. Applicants must evidence that they have means to pay for the course where appropriate. This may mean payment in full, evidence of an application for funding, or an agreement to pay fees in instalments. Offers made may include payment as part of the conditions of enrolment.

1.7 Safeguarding and Suitability:

The College has a duty to ensure applicants are suitable for their chosen programme, particularly where professional practice is involved. This includes consideration of criminal convictions and fitness to practise/study. Decisions will be made in line with safeguarding legislation and the College's duty of care.

Applicants with declared criminal convictions are subject to a pre-entry risk assessment under the Student Criminal Convictions Disclosure Policy. The College will assess whether the applicant poses a risk to others or is unsuitable for the chosen programme. Applicants to programmes leading to professional practice (e.g. health, social care, education) must meet the standards outlined in the Fitness to Practise and Study Policy. The College may refuse admission if there is evidence that the applicant is not suited to the demands of the course and/or the responsibilities of the profession. Please note that if an occupational health check is required as part of course admission, this must be sourced and funded by the student.

1.8 Transparency and Consistency:

Selection criteria are published annually on the College website and in the prospectus. These are approved by the Curriculum Management Team and applied consistently across all applicants.

2. Qualifications on Entry

2.1 The College advertises entry criteria for courses on the website and within the online prospectus and it is the responsibility of the applicant to ensure they meet the entry criteria prior to enrolment. Entry requirements must be met prior to enrolment and conditional offers will be based on eligibility against these advertised qualifications.

Any applicant who has applied for a Level 2 or Level 3 vocational study programme will be enrolled on Essential Skills or GCSE Maths or English as part of their programme of study. This is only in instances where it has been approved for an applicant to be enrolled on a vocational programme without these qualifications as a prerequisite. Enrolment on Essential Skills or GCSE Maths and English is mandatory, and no student will be enrolled onto a Level 2 or L3 full time vocational programme without this. If an applicant declines this at the enrolment stage, their application to the full study programme will be withdrawn and the waiting list will be accessed to offer the next available space to a student.

The College delivers and assesses all qualifications in English, and as such, an appropriate level of English is a prerequisite for all courses, apart from those aimed at non-English speakers i.e., ESOL. Progression from ESOL through to full-time L2 and L3 vocational programmes is possible, and further information can be gained from the ESOL section of the College prospectus.

Where English is not an applicant's first language, they may be required to undergo an assessment of their English verbal and written skills prior to enrolment.

If an applicant presents with international qualification/s, they can access the services of the College Careers Team for a 'Statement of Comparability' that will be suitable to demonstrate they can meet the course entry requirements for study at Northern Regional College. Email careers@nrc.ac.uk.

2.2 Guidance for Applicants with Non-Uk Qualifications or Whose First Language is Not English.

6. Course Cancellation

The College reserves the right to cancel courses at any time prior to the enrolment period commencing, and in some instances, cancellation may take place after enrolment has commenced. Courses may be cancelled prior to or after enrolment due to low demand or strategic changes.

In all instances of course cancellation, the College will inform applicants as soon as possible and will make every effort to reassign the applicant to an alternative suitable course.

All course cancellations will be approved by the Curriculum Director prior to any communication being issued to applicants.

12. Appendix 1 – Applications- How to apply timeline

Despite impressing with your application, the Curriculum team may still want to meet you before making an offer - give yourself the best chance of securing your place by discovering how to prepare for a Northern Regional College interview

What to expect

Interviews, information sessions and auditions are sometimes used by lecturing staff towards the end of the College application process as a means of comparing applicants with a good chance of being offered places on their courses.

They're more likely to be held for creative or care-related programmes, as well as for entry into many of the Work Based Learning courses.

While the form and length of the interview will vary between College Departments, most are based on a discussion with the course lecturer.

For some courses, you may need to bring along a portfolio showing examples of your best work. This usually only applies to courses in the arts, but those wishing to study Performing Arts may be required to perform an audition piece. This can happen in person or you may be asked to submit an audition piece directly to the lecturer.

The interviewer will want to maintain an element of surprise with regards to the interview - but they should at least let you know in advance if you'll be expected to complete a task.

How to prepare for a College interview / audition / information session

In advance of your interview, it's important to prepare properly. You can do this by:

- sorting out your travel arrangements in plenty of time
- finding out exactly where the interview / audition information session will take place
- ensuring your laptop and webcam are all set up and working correctly - if your interview is being held online
- thinking carefully about why you've chosen this course, making notes from your application
- planning questions to ask the College interviewer
- thoroughly researching the course and the College
- ensuring you're up to date with current affairs relating to your subject
- carrying out a mock interview with a careers adviser or teacher to see how well you perform under pressure and to ensure you're adopting the right body language

If you're wondering how to get the most out of the interview experience, we offer the following pointers:

- Decide if this is where you want to study
- Be prepared for group discussions
- Showcase your skills
